Lifelong Learning: The Definition

Demonstrate lifelong learning skills.
Demonstration includes

- continually acquiring new industry-related knowledge

Paraphrase (in my own words):
Always getting new information related to your career (not just relying on what you learned in school or from your training).

- improving professional skills to stay current in the field and to promote personal advancement

Paraphrase (in my own words):
Getting better at the things you already know how to do so you can stay up-to-date with others in your career... and so you can be a better worker and get raises/promotions, too.

- seeking education and experiences that enhance personal growth.

Paraphrase (in my own words):
Actively looking for ways you can learn and things you can do or attend to make you better.
